- Asset Based Fees - Payable quarterly in arrears. Since the fees we receive are asset-based (i.e. based on the value of your account), we have an incentive to increase your account value which creates a conflict especially for those accounts holding illiquid or hard-to-value assets;
- Clients pay the following addition fees and/or expenses: Brokerage commissions as applicable;

Examples of the most common fees and costs applicable to our clients are:

- Custodian fees;
- Account maintenance fees;
- Fees related to mutual funds and exchange-traded funds; and
- Transaction charges when purchasing or selling securities.

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

Key Questions to Ask Your Financial Professional

- Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means.

- We also receive asset based fees for serving as the sub-advisor to the Catalyst MLP & Infrastructure Fund, a mutual fund.
- We own the rights to the American Energy Independence Index and license the rights to Pacer Advisors who in turn is the adviser to the Pacer American Independence Fund, an ETF based on the licensed index.

We believe that the relationships do not present a material conflict of interest.

- We do not make any money from our investment advisory services except as described above.

Refer to our Form ADV Part 2A by clicking this link <https://adviserinfo.sec.gov/firm/summary/151495> to help you understand what conflicts exist.
