

Introduction

Gateway Advisory, LLC ("Gateway") is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission as an investment adviser. Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ and it is important for you to understand the differences. Free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

Gateway provides personalized investment management and financial planning services. The firm provides financial advice to individuals, trusts, foundations, endowments, and corporations. Gateway imposes a minimum annual fee of $2,500. This minimum may be waived in the discretion of Gateway.

Financial Planning

Gateway provides its clients with a broad range of comprehensive financial planning services. These services generally include retirement planning, education planning, survivorship and insurance planning, estate and tax planning. These services may be included as part of Gateway's wealth management services, described below. Gateway also offers advice on cash flow and debt management, tax planning, liability management strategies, and estate and wealth transfer planning.

Investment Management

Investment management services will be provided on a "discretionary" basis. When clients engage Gateway, clients generally share financial information including income, investments, savings, insurance, and other items that are helpful to Gateway in assessing the client's unique situation, needs, and goals. With all of this information, Gateway is able to provide the client with a financial and investment plan that it believes consists of the best possible ways to reach the client's goals while satisfying all of their financial needs. When Gateway is engaged to provide investment management services on a discretionary basis, Gateway monitors an account to ensure that it meets the client's asset allocation requirements. If any changes are needed to the investments, Gateway makes the changes. These changes may involve selling a security or group of securities and buying others or keeping the proceeds in cash. Clients may, at any time, place restrictions on either the types of investments that Gateway purchases on their behalf or on the allocations to each investment type. Clients may receive at their request written or electronic confirmations from the account custodian after any changes are made to an account. Clients also receive monthly statements from the account custodian. Clients engaging Gateway on a discretionary basis are asked to execute a Limited Power of Attorney (granting Gateway discretionary authority over a client account) as well as an Investment Management Agreement (IMA) that outlines the responsibilities of both Gateway and the client.

Retirement Plan Consulting

Gateway offers retirement plan solutions for plan sponsors. These services are tailored based on the individual needs of the plan, but may include investment insight and oversight, plan benchmarking, improved participant outcomes, ongoing fiduciary monitoring, fee and expense analysis, participant communication, plan design consulting, and vendor search support.

What fees will I pay?

Financial Planning and Consulting Fees

Gateway charges a fixed fee and/or hourly fee for financial planning or consulting services. These fees are negotiable, but generally range from $1,000 to $15,000 on a fixed fee basis and/or from $100 to $350 on an hourly rate basis, depending upon the level and scope of the services and the professional rendering the advice. If the client engages Gateway for additional investment advisory services, Gateway may offset all or a portion of its fees for those services based upon the amount paid for the financial planning services.

Asset Management

Generally, assessed fees vary from 1.5% to 0.1% per annum of the market value of a client's assets managed by Gateway. Fees are negotiable and may be higher or lower than listed above based on the nature of the account. Fees are determined in the sole discretion of Gateway based upon several factors including account size and complexity of assets. Investment advisory fees are debited directly from each client's account. The advisory fee is paid quarterly, in advance, and the value used for the fee calculation is the average daily balance of the assets as valued by the custodian. Therefore, if the annual fee is 1.00%, then each quarter, Gateway multiplies the average daily value of the account by 1.00% and divides by 4 to calculate the quarterly fee. To the extent there is cash in the account, it is included in the account's value when calculating fees only if the cash is part of the investment strategy. Once the calculation is made, Gateway instructs the account custodian to deduct the fee from the account and remit it to Gateway.

There are several other fees that can be associated with holding and investing in securities. Clients are responsible for fees including transaction fees for the purchase or sale of a mutual fund and commissions for the purchase or sale of a stock or bond. Mutual fund expenses are not included in management fees because they are deducted from the value of the shares by the mutual fund manager. You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying. For more specific information regarding our fees, please refer our Disclosure Brochure, the ADV Part 2A under Item 5 Fees and Compensation by clicking here.

 "Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?"

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means. Certain of Gateway's Supervised Persons are licensed insurance agents with various insurance companies and, in such capacity, will recommend, on a fully-disclosed commission basis, the purchase of certain insurance products. Gateway may recommend that certain of its advisory clients engage Jay R. Horowitz CPA PC to render various accounting and tax preparation services. One or more of the Firm's Supervised Persons is a principal of Jay R. Horowitz CPA PC and is entitled to receive distributions relative to his ownership interest. In limited circumstances Gateway receives financial compensation or assistance from unaffiliated third parties who manage investment products such as mutual funds or exchange traded funds in which clients assets may be invested. The receipt of such financial compensation or assistance creates a conflict of interest whereas Gateway may be encouraged to invest client assets in investment products managed by the unaffiliated third parties based on compensation received and not the client's best interests.
