Bannerman Wealth Management Group, LLC is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission as an investment adviser. Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ and it is important for you to understand the differences. Free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

We offer investment advisory services to retail investors, which principally include individuals and high-net-worth individuals in addition to trusts, estates, business entities, and charitable organizations, and pension profit sharing plans. Our discretionary authority to buy, sell, and otherwise transact in securities in your account(s) is granted in our advisory agreement and is only limited by your reasonable restrictions or our mutual ability to terminate the advisory agreement. Clients who invest less than $500,000 with us are generally directed to our automated investment program, which may differ in services and scope to the investment management services we provide to our other clients. Our standalone ongoing financial planning services entail the preparation of a financial plan based on your specific financial situation that includes a recommended course of action or activity to take if you decide to implement our recommendations. Our advice is not limited to certain types of investments. We do not offer proprietary products. We do not have a minimum account size, but we generally impose minimum account fees to retain or maintain our advisory services, which amount to a monthly fee of $375 for financial planning and a quarterly fee of $600 for investment management.

Regular monitoring of your account(s) is included as part of our standard investment management services, with reviews typically occurring at least monthly. It is important that you keep us apprised of your financial situation so we can conduct more frequent reviews if necessary.

More detailed information about our services may be found in Items 4 and 7 of our Form ADV Part 2A brochure, available at <https://adviserinfo.sec.gov/firm/summary/284677>.

What fees will I pay?

Retail investors who receive investment management services from us will generally incur the following fee charged by us: an asset-based negotiated flat fee ranging from 0.5% - 1.5% annually, set at our discretion depending on numerous factors and as described in Item 5 of our brochure. This fee is paid in advance on a quarterly basis and may be modified annually upon mutual consent.

Retail investors who receive ongoing financial planning services will generally pay a negotiated fixed fee on a monthly basis, depending on the complexity of the situation and the needs of the client. Fees range between $4,500 - $10,000 annually.

In addition, retail investors will also generally incur the following fees and costs charged by third-parties: custodian fees, account maintenance fees, product expenses such as internal expense ratios, and transaction charges.

When we charge an asset-based fee, the more assets there are in your account(s), the more you will pay in fees, and we may therefore have an incentive to encourage you to increase the assets in your account(s). When we charge flat fees that are based on the complexity of your financial situation, we are incentivized to add or read-in additional complexity to your financial situation.

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

More detailed information about our fees and costs may be found in Item 5 of our Form ADV Part 2A brochure.

“Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?”

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means.

The custodian(s) we recommend provide(s) us with various products and services that are intended to directly benefit you, us, or both of us. To the extent a custodian provides us products or services that don't directly benefit you, this creates an incentive to recommend that custodian. To learn how we address this incentive, please refer to Item 12 of our ADV Part 2A brochure.

To the extent you purchase an insurance product from our affiliated insurance company, Bannerman Insurance Group, LLC, you will pay an ordinary and customary commission. This creates a conflict of interest due to the additional compensation that will be received. To learn how we address this incentive, please refer to Item 10 of our ADV Part 2A brochure.

How do your financial professionals make money?

Our financial professionals are compensated based on a salary and potential bonus. They are not compensated based on the sale of a particular product and do not earn commissions except in connection with the sale of insurance products, which will typically generate an ordinary and customary commission earned by the financial professional that sold such products.

Do you or your financial professionals have a legal or disciplinary history?

No. You may visit Investor.gov/CRS for a free and simple search tool to research us and our financial professionals.
