Introduction

Next Up Wealth Advisors, LLC, is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) as an investment adviser. There are different ways you can get help with your investments. You should carefully consider which types of accounts and services are right for you. We are an investment adviser and provide advisory accounts and services. This document summarizes the services we offer and how you pay. Please ask us for more information. Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ, and it is important for the retail investor to understand the differences. Free, simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at www.investor.gov/CRS, a website maintained by the SEC. These tools can also provide you with educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

We offer investment advisory services and advice to retail investors on a regular basis. Our services include discussing your investment goals, designing a strategy with you to achieve them, and ongoing monitoring of your account. We will generally contact you periodically, at least quarterly, regarding your investment portfolio. Other advisory services we provide include financial planning, investment consulting, and adviser selection.

Additionally, we provide discretionary and non-discretionary advisory services. Our discretionary authority is generally granted at the outset of our advisory relationship, in our client agreement, to select the identity and amount of securities to buy or sell. We exercise such discretion in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives, limitations, and restrictions imposed upon us by you, we advise. With respect to our non-discretionary services, you should be aware that you make the ultimate decision regarding your investment holdings, including the purchase and/or sale of those investments. Our investment advice generally covers equities, debt, municipals, investment companies, and mutual funds. Other firms could provide advice on a wider range of options, some of which might be lower-cost. We generally require that clients have a minimum of $100,000 in investment assets to open and maintain an account with us; however, we may waive the minimum in our sole discretion.

What fees will I pay?

Principal Fees and Costs

Retail investors will incur the fees described below for investment advisory services, which are negotiated between you, the client, and your financial advisor. The principal fees for investment advisory services are as follows:

- Asset-based fees, which are an ongoing fee, are based upon a percentage of the assets managed by us.
- Hourly charges for financial planning and general investment consulting services.

Our fees vary and are negotiable. The amount you pay will depend, for example, on the services you receive and the amount of assets in your account. Additionally, the amount paid to your financial professional and us generally does not vary based on the type of investments we select on your behalf. The asset-based fee reduces the value of your account and will be deducted from your account.

The more assets you have in the advisory account, including cash, the more you will pay us. We therefore have an incentive to increase the assets in your account in order to increase our fees. You pay our fee quarterly or monthly, even if you do not buy or sell your investment assets.

Other Fees and Costs

You will also pay transaction fees, and other transaction-related third-party costs and expenses incurred in the management of your assets. These costs include charges imposed by custodians, third-party investment advisers, and others, such as custodial fees, deferred sales charges, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on custodial brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Some investments (such as mutual funds and variable annuities) impose additional fees that will reduce the value of your investment over time.

Additional Information

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

See our Form ADV, Part 2A brochure, Items 5 and 12, as applicable, and other applicable documents for additional information regarding our fees and costs.

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser?

When we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interests ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice that we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means:

- Your custodian provides services to us, including research, execution, brokerage, custody, and access to mutual funds and other investments. Additionally, other services provided assist us in managing and administering clients' accounts. These services are provided in part based on the assets held at the respective custodians and, as such, create an incentive for us to direct clients to their custodial platforms. For additional information, please see our Form ADV Part 2A, Item 14.

Additional Information

For more information about our conflicts of interest, see our Form ADV, Part 2A brochure, Items 12 and 14.

How do your financial professionals make money?

Your financial professional earns compensation based on a portion of the revenue we earn from you for providing you with those advisory services. As a result, your financial professional may have a financial incentive not to reduce fees. Additionally, your financial professionals are compensated based on factors such as the amount of client assets they service, and the time and complexity required to meet a client's needs.

Do you or your financial professionals have a legal or disciplinary history?

No, neither your financial professional nor we have any legal or disciplinary history. Please see www.investor.gov/CRS for a free, simple search tool to research the background and experience of our financial professionals and of us.

Conversation Starter: Ask your financial professional:

- As a financial professional, do you have any disciplinary history? For what type of conduct?
