IAPD Information About Representatives

IAPD offers information on all current-and many former representatives. Investors are strongly encouraged to use IAPD to check the background of representatives before deciding to conduct, or continue to conduct, business with them.

What is included in a IAPD report?

IAPD reports for individual representatives include information such as employment history, professional qualifications, disciplinary actions, criminal convictions, civil judgments and arbitration awards.

It is important to note that the information contained in an IAPD report may include pending actions or allegations that may be contested, unresolved or unproven. In the end, these actions or allegations may be resolved in favor of the representative, or concluded through a negotiated settlement with no admission or finding of wrongdoing.

Where did this information come from?

The information contained in IAPD comes from the Investment Adviser Registration Depository (IARD) and FINRA's Central Registration Depository, or CRD, (see more on CRD below) and is a combination of:

- information the states require representatives and firms to submit as part of the registration and licensing process, and
- information that state regulators report regarding disciplinary actions or allegations against representatives.

How current is this information?

Generally, representatives are required to update their professional and disciplinary information in IARD within 30 days.

Need help interpreting this report?

For help understanding how to read this report, please consult NASAA's IAPD Tips page <http://www.nasaa.org/IAPD/IARReports.cfm>

What if I want to check the background of an Individual Broker or Brokerage Firm?

To check the background of an Individual Broker or Brokerage firm, you can search for the firm or individual in IAPD. If your search is successful, click on the link provided to view the available licensing and registration information in FINRA's BrokerCheck website.

Are there other resources I can use to check the background of investment professionals?

It is recommended that you learn as much as possible about an individual representative or Investment Adviser firm before deciding to work with them. Your state securities regulator can help you research individuals and certain firms doing business in your state. The contact information for state securities regulators can be found on the website of the North American Securities Administrators Association <http://www.nasaa.org>

Disclosure Summary

Disclosure Information

What you should know about reported disclosure events:

(1) Certain thresholds must be met before an event is reported to IARD, for example:

- A law enforcement agency must file formal charges before an Investment Adviser Representative is required to report a particular criminal event.;
- A customer dispute must involve allegations that an Investment Adviser Representative engaged in activity that violates certain rules or conduct governing the industry and that the activity resulted in damages of at least $5,000.

(2) Disclosure events in IAPD reports come from different sources:

As mentioned in the "About IAPD" section on page 1 of this report, information contained in IAPD comes from Investment Adviser Representatives, firms and regulators. When more than one of these sources reports information for the same disclosure event, all versions of the event will appear in the IAPD report. The different versions will be separated by a solid line with the reporting source labeled.

(3) There are different statuses and dispositions for disclosure events:

- A disclosure event may have a status of pending, on appeal, or final.
 - A "pending" disclosure event involves allegations that have not been proven or formally adjudicated.
 - A disclosure event that is "on appeal" involves allegations that have been adjudicated but are currently being appealed.
 - A "final" disclosure event has been concluded and its resolution is not subject to change.
- A final disclosure event generally has a disposition of adjudicated, settled or otherwise resolved.
 - An "adjudicated" matter includes a disposition by (1) a court of law in a criminal or civil matter, or (2) an administrative panel in an action brought by a regulator that is contested by the party charged with some alleged wrongdoing.
 - A "settled" matter generally represents a disposition wherein the parties involved in a dispute reach an agreement to resolve the matter. Please note that Investment Adviser Representatives and firms may choose to settle customer disputes or regulatory matters for business or other reasons.
 - A "resolved" matter usually includes a disposition wherein no payment is made to the customer or there is no finding of wrongdoing on the part of the Investment Adviser Representative. Such matters generally involve customer disputes.

(4) You may wish to contact the Investment Adviser Representatives to obtain further information regarding any of the disclosure events contained in this IAPD report.

DISCLOSURE EVENT DETAILS

When evaluating this information, please keep in mind that some items may involve pending actions or allegations that may be contested and have not been resolved or proven. The event may, in the end, be withdrawn, dismissed, resolved in favor of the Investment Adviser Representative, or concluded through a negotiated settlement with no admission or finding of wrongdoing.

This report provides the information exactly as it was reported to the Investment Adviser Registration Depository. Some of the specific data fields contained in the report may be blank if the information was not provided.

The following types of events are disclosed about this representative:

Type	Count
Termination	1

Termination

This disclosure event involves a situation where the Investment Adviser Representative voluntarily resigned, was discharged or was permitted to resign after allegations were made that accused the Investment Adviser Representative of violating investment-related statutes, regulations, rules or industry standards of conduct; fraud or the wrongful taking of property; or failure to supervise in connection with investment-related statutes, regulations, rules or industry standards of conduct.

Reporting Source:	Individual
Firm Name:	Morgan Stanley
Termination Type:	Discharged
Termination Date:	01/09/2017
Allegations:	Concerns relating to employee's (i) spouse acting as trustee on a client's account, and (ii) naming another co-worker as a beneficiary of employee's estate, and providing the co-worker funds from this benefit to purchase a house. Employee notes that the client account is coded in firm systems as "employee-related."

Broker Statement
Point 1: In 2014, a trust client, the X Trust, requested that Mr. Fratkin's wife, [third party], act as trustee for the trust account. Mr. and [third party] Fratkin were close personal friends with the trust's grantors, a married couple, for over 40 years. Mr. Fratkin contacted a branch compliance officer for guidance. The BCO assisted Mr.

Fratkin with the completion of the Enhanced Due Diligence form and gave specific instructions on how to accurately describe his relationship with the trustee (his wife). As the Termination Explanation specifically and accurately indicates, Morgan Stanley coded this account as an "employee-related" account. Furthermore, the trust documents themselves were submitted to the firm's legal department for scrutiny. Thus, this account was scrutinized by the compliance department as if the account were controlled directly by Mr. Fratkin. This included monthly account statement reviews by branch compliance officers and two annual audits by the firm.

[3rd party] Fratkin is no longer the trustee. The son of the grantor is now the trustee (the current trustee is also the life beneficiary of the trust). The current trustee is extremely sophisticated and is a recognized leader in the mergers and acquisitions industry. The family clearly informed Morgan Stanley in writing that the current trustee reviewed the work done by 3rd party Fratkin and is extremely pleased with her stewardship and how she grew the assets for the trust; nonetheless, Morgan Stanley inexplicably implied that Mr. Fratkin acted unprofessionally. Morgan Stanley had direct knowledge that his wife was acting as trustee for a client account and approved her for that role. The trust was carefully handled and there are absolutely no indications or allegations of mismanagement or misconduct. The facts associated with the trust are straightforward and simple and in no way indicate that any securities laws, rules, regulations or standards of conduct have been violated.

Point 2:[3rd party] and Robert Fratkin have worked together and been close family friends for 24 years. Mr. Fratkin named [3rd party], also a financial advisor and Mr. Fratkin's business partner, as a minor beneficiary of his estate in his trust created in 1996. Mr. Fratkin intended to bequeath to [3rd party] a small amount of money based on the length of their business relationship ($6,000 per year starting in 1993). In 2013, [3rd party's] rental townhouse complex was to be closed. Mr. Fratkin agreed to advance the bestowment so [3rd party] could purchase her own home. In exchange, 3rd party signed a quitclaim on any future accumulation from the trust. The facts associated with this action are straightforward and in no way indicate that any securities laws, rules, regulations or standards of conduct have been violated.
