Disclosure Summary

Disclosure Information

What you should know about reported disclosure events:

(1) Certain thresholds must be met before an event is reported to IARD, for example:

- A law enforcement agency must file formal charges before an Investment Adviser Representative is required to report a particular criminal event.;
- A customer dispute must involve allegations that an Investment Adviser Representative engaged in activity that violates certain rules or conduct governing the industry and that the activity resulted in damages of at least $5,000.

(2) Disclosure events in IAPD reports come from different sources:

As mentioned in the "About IAPD" section on page 1 of this report, information contained in IAPD comes from Investment Adviser Representatives, firms and regulators. When more than one of these sources reports information for the same disclosure event, all versions of the event will appear in the IAPD report. The different versions will be separated by a solid line with the reporting source labeled.

(3) There are different statuses and dispositions for disclosure events:

- A disclosure event may have a status of pending, on appeal, or final.
 - A "pending" disclosure event involves allegations that have not been proven or formally adjudicated.
 - A disclosure event that is "on appeal" involves allegations that have been adjudicated but are currently being appealed.
 - A "final" disclosure event has been concluded and its resolution is not subject to change.
- A final disclosure event generally has a disposition of adjudicated, settled or otherwise resolved.
 - An "adjudicated" matter includes a disposition by (1) a court of law in a criminal or civil matter, or (2) an administrative panel in an action brought by a regulator that is contested by the party charged with some alleged wrongdoing.
 - A "settled" matter generally represents a disposition wherein the parties involved in a dispute reach an agreement to resolve the matter. Please note that Investment Adviser Representatives and firms may choose to settle customer disputes or regulatory matters for business or other reasons.
 - A "resolved" matter usually includes a disposition wherein no payment is made to the customer or there is no finding of wrongdoing on the part of the Investment Adviser Representative. Such matters generally involve customer disputes.

Broker Statement

I was discharged based on a violation of an Edward Jones internal policy, not a violation of a Financial Industry rule. I recommended that my client purchase a suitable annuity with a guaranteed income rider that is consistent with securities industry rule. The product manufacturer allowed the purchase of the rider up until age 85. I didn't receive any additional compensation for adding the rider. The annual cost of this investment to the client is less than the cost of client's previous investment. The client also pays less tax on income from this investment. However, Edward Jones internal policy did not allow for such rider to be purchased. The client is satisfied with the suitable and approved purchase and has not complained. Also, Edward Jones corrected a mistake made in a client account in 2007 which I discovered in 2013 and immediately reported to Edward Jones supervision. The mistake was corrected promptly after discovered. This client also never complained about the mistake. Both clients followed me to my new firm and remain satisfied customers.
