Disclosure Summary

Disclosure Information

What you should know about reported disclosure events:

(1) Certain thresholds must be met before an event is reported to IARD, for example:

- A law enforcement agency must file formal charges before an Investment Adviser Representative is required to report a particular criminal event.;
- A customer dispute must involve allegations that an Investment Adviser Representative engaged in activity that violates certain rules or conduct governing the industry and that the activity resulted in damages of at least $5,000.

(2) Disclosure events in IAPD reports come from different sources:

As mentioned in the "About IAPD" section on page 1 of this report, information contained in IAPD comes from Investment Adviser Representatives, firms and regulators. When more than one of these sources reports information for the same disclosure event, all versions of the event will appear in the IAPD report. The different versions will be separated by a solid line with the reporting source labeled.

(3) There are different statuses and dispositions for disclosure events:

- A disclosure event may have a status of pending, on appeal, or final.
 - A "pending" disclosure event involves allegations that have not been proven or formally adjudicated.
 - A disclosure event that is "on appeal" involves allegations that have been adjudicated but are currently being appealed.
 - A "final" disclosure event has been concluded and its resolution is not subject to change.
- A final disclosure event generally has a disposition of adjudicated, settled or otherwise resolved.
 - An "adjudicated" matter includes a disposition by (1) a court of law in a criminal or civil matter, or (2) an administrative panel in an action brought by a regulator that is contested by the party charged with some alleged wrongdoing.
 - A "settled" matter generally represents a disposition wherein the parties involved in a dispute reach an agreement to resolve the matter. Please note that Investment Adviser Representatives and firms may choose to settle customer disputes or regulatory matters for business or other reasons.
 - A "resolved" matter usually includes a disposition wherein no payment is made to the customer or there is no finding of wrongdoing on the part of the Investment Adviser Representative. Such matters generally involve customer disputes.

(4) You may wish to contact the Investment Adviser Representatives to obtain further information regarding any of the disclosure events contained in this IAPD report.

Date Notice/Process Served:	01/12/2016
Product Type:	No Product
Type of Court:	State Court
Name of Court:	California Superior Court
Location of Court:	County of Fresno
Docket/Case #:	16 CECG 00082
Employing firm when activity occurred which led to the action:
Allegations:	Plaintiff alleges Strategic Retirement Advisors, LLC (SRA) advised it to establish a new qualified governmental defined contribution plan. Plaintiff alleges third-party administrator and custodian, also named defendants, did not properly establish and administer the New Plan; and its prior plan's third-party administrator did not properly terminate the Old Plan. Plaintiff alleges the third-party administrators' and custodian's acts jeopardized the tax-qualified status of the Old Plan, and could lead to IRS tax liability.
Current Status:	Pending
Limitations or Restrictions in Effect During Appeal:	None
Broker Statement	SRA did not breach any duties to Plaintiff, and did not cause any of the alleged injuries. Plaintiff's injury, if any, were caused by the alleged failures of the third-party administrators and custodians. SRA was neither a third-party administrator nor a custodian of any of Plaintiff's Plans, and had no ability to terminate, establish, or administer any such Plans. Therefore, SRA did not owe any of the alleged duties to Plaintiff, could not have committed the alleged breaches of duty, and could not have caused any of the harms Plaintiff claims to have suffered. Further, Plaintiff does not allege that the Plan was improper-only that the co-defendants allegedly failed to administer them properly, which resulted in the tax-qualified status of one of the Plans being jeopardized. Plaintiff fails to state any claim of wrongdoing against SRA. Finally, Plaintiff admits that it has not suffered any tax liability. In fact, Plaintiff is in active negotiations with the IRS to correct any problems vis-à-vis the Plans, which may eliminate any supposed damages. The court has ordered the action stayed while Plaintiff completes its negotiations with the IRS.
