IAPD Information About Representatives

IAPD offers information on all current-and many former representatives. Investors are strongly encouraged to use IAPD to check the background of representatives before deciding to conduct, or continue to conduct, business with them.

What is included in a IAPD report?

IAPD reports for individual representatives include information such as employment history, professional qualifications, disciplinary actions, criminal convictions, civil judgments and arbitration awards.

It is important to note that the information contained in an IAPD report may include pending actions or allegations that may be contested, unresolved or unproven. In the end, these actions or allegations may be resolved in favor of the representative, or concluded through a negotiated settlement with no admission or finding of wrongdoing.

Where did this information come from?

The information contained in IAPD comes from the Investment Adviser Registration Depository (IARD) and FINRA's Central Registration Depository, or CRD, (see more on CRD below) and is a combination of:

- information the states require representatives and firms to submit as part of the registration and licensing process, and
- information that state regulators report regarding disciplinary actions or allegations against representatives.

How current is this information?

Generally, representatives are required to update their professional and disciplinary information in IARD within 30 days.

Need help interpreting this report?

For help understanding how to read this report, please consult NASAA's IAPD Tips page <http://www.nasaa.org/IAPD/IARReports.cfm>

What if I want to check the background of an Individual Broker or Brokerage Firm?

To check the background of an Individual Broker or Brokerage firm, you can search for the firm or individual in IAPD. If your search is successful, click on the link provided to view the available licensing and registration information in FINRA's BrokerCheck website.

Are there other resources I can use to check the background of investment professionals?

It is recommended that you learn as much as possible about an individual representative or Investment Adviser firm before deciding to work with them. Your state securities regulator can help you research individuals and certain firms doing business in your state. The contact information for state securities regulators can be found on the website of the North American Securities Administrators Association <http://www.nasaa.org>

Disclosure Summary

Disclosure Information

What you should know about reported disclosure events:

(1) Certain thresholds must be met before an event is reported to IARD, for example:

- A law enforcement agency must file formal charges before an Investment Adviser Representative is required to report a particular criminal event.;
- A customer dispute must involve allegations that an Investment Adviser Representative engaged in activity that violates certain rules or conduct governing the industry and that the activity resulted in damages of at least $5,000.

(2) Disclosure events in IAPD reports come from different sources:

As mentioned in the "About IAPD" section on page 1 of this report, information contained in IAPD comes from Investment Adviser Representatives, firms and regulators. When more than one of these sources reports information for the same disclosure event, all versions of the event will appear in the IAPD report. The different versions will be separated by a solid line with the reporting source labeled.

(3) There are different statuses and dispositions for disclosure events:

- A disclosure event may have a status of pending, on appeal, or final.
 - A "pending" disclosure event involves allegations that have not been proven or formally adjudicated.
 - A disclosure event that is "on appeal" involves allegations that have been adjudicated but are currently being appealed.
 - A "final" disclosure event has been concluded and its resolution is not subject to change.
- A final disclosure event generally has a disposition of adjudicated, settled or otherwise resolved.
 - An "adjudicated" matter includes a disposition by (1) a court of law in a criminal or civil matter, or (2) an administrative panel in an action brought by a regulator that is contested by the party charged with some alleged wrongdoing.
 - A "settled" matter generally represents a disposition wherein the parties involved in a dispute reach an agreement to resolve the matter. Please note that Investment Adviser Representatives and firms may choose to settle customer disputes or regulatory matters for business or other reasons.
 - A "resolved" matter usually includes a disposition wherein no payment is made to the customer or there is no finding of wrongdoing on the part of the Investment Adviser Representative. Such matters generally involve customer disputes.

(4) You may wish to contact the Investment Adviser Representatives to obtain further information regarding any of the disclosure events contained in this IAPD report.

DISCLOSURE EVENT DETAILS

When evaluating this information, please keep in mind that some items may involve pending actions or allegations that may be contested and have not been resolved or proven. The event may, in the end, be withdrawn, dismissed, resolved in favor of the Investment Adviser Representative, or concluded through a negotiated settlement with no admission or finding of wrongdoing.

This report provides the information exactly as it was reported to the Investment Adviser Registration Depository. Some of the specific data fields contained in the report may be blank if the information was not provided.

Docket/Case #: 1:25-cv-00616

Employing firm when activity occurred which led to the action: Arete Wealth Management, LLC and Arete Wealth Advisors, LLC

Allegations: The Securities and Exchange Commission, for its Complaint against Arete Wealth Management, LLC (Arete Wealth), Arete Wealth Advisors, LLC (Arete Advisors, together with Arete Wealth, Arete), Joey Dale Miller, Jeffrey Scott Larson (Jeff Larson), Randall Scott Larson (Randy Larson), and UnBo (Bob) Chung (Chung), alleges that Miller and brothers Jeff Larson and Randy Larson (the representatives) solicited dozens of their customers and clients to purchase stock in Zona Energy, Inc. without receiving Arete's approval and therefore not subject to its compliance oversight, a prohibited practice called "selling away." In the process, Miller and Jeff Larson defrauded investors. Later, they, along with Randy Larson and Chung (Arete's general counsel and CCO) obtained liability waivers, which they knew contained material misrepresentations and omissions, from their advisory clients, to whom they owed a fiduciary duty. Miller and Jeff Larson agreed with Zona's control person to raise money for Zona from investors in exchange for (at least) discounted shares of Zona, and Randy Larson joined the effort. Miller and Jeff Larson did not disclose this agreement to their customers and clients and in some cases misled them into thinking Miller and Jeff Larson were recommending the stock without receiving anything in return. To try to conceal their conduct, Miller and Jeff Larson directed their customers and clients not to email them on their Arete email accounts, and they and Randy Larson emailed Arete customers and clients about Zona from non-Arete email accounts. The representatives and Chung received an anonymous email alleging that the control person was known by another name and a convicted felon who had served several years in prison for conspiracy to commit securities fraud and other crimes. Yet, some of the representatives' customers and clients who had previously invested in Zona invested additional funds, and the representatives at least assisted certain of these investors in doing so. The brokerage customers and advisory clients, along with other investors the representatives solicited, had invested more than $8.5 million in Zona. Subsequently, the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of New York and the Commission respectively filed criminal and civil charges against the control person and others alleging that Zona was a sham company and that he and other insiders had misappropriated investor funds for luxury expenses. That same day, FINRA sent Chung an email requesting information on whether individuals at Arete had raised funds for Zona and named Jeff Larson, Randy Larson, and Miller. To try to limit Arete's liability, Arete's CEO demanded that the representatives obtain liability releases from their customers and clients who had invested in Zona and delegated oversight of this process to Chung, who worked with the representatives' counsel. Chung played an active role in this process and helped the representatives obtain broad liability releases from many of their customers and clients in return for payments typically ranging from $1 to $5,000—much less than most of these investors had invested in Zona. As Chung and the representatives knew (or at least recklessly or negligently disregarded), the releases falsely claimed that the investors understood that the representatives had not recommended investments in Zona and that the representatives were not acting as financial advisers when doing so. While the releases disclosed that Miller and Jeff Larson had purchased Zona shares at a discount, the releases misleadingly failed to disclose that Miller and Jeff Larson had received these shares in return for raising millions of dollars for Zona. The representatives' misconduct occurred while Arete Advisors failed to comply with important compliance requirements and Arete Wealth failed to comply with key recordkeeping requirements. Arete Advisors, through Chung, failed to maintain adequate compliance policies and procedures and

Meanwhile, the representatives' customers and clients and other investors the representatives solicited lost nearly all of the money they invested in Zona. By reason of the foregoing, Jeff Larson, directly or indirectly, singly or in concert, have violated and, unless enjoined, will again violate Exchange Act Section 10(b) and Rule 10b-5 thereunder; Securities Act Section 17(a); Advisers Act Sections 206(1) and (2); and aided and abetted Arete Advisors' violations of Advisers Act Sections 206(1) and (2) and Arete Wealth's violations of Exchange Act Section 17(a) and Rule 17a-4(b)(4). Jeff Larson directly or indirectly, violated and, unless enjoined will again violate, Exchange Act Section 15(a).

Customer Dispute

This section provides information regarding a customer dispute that was reported to the Investment Adviser Registration Depository (IARD) by the Investment Adviser Representative (IAR), an investment adviser and/or securities firm, and/or a securities regulator. The event may include a consumer-initiated, investment-related complaint, arbitration proceeding or civil suit that contains allegations of sales practice violations against the individual.

The customer dispute may be pending or may have resulted in a civil judgment, arbitration award, monetary settlement, closure without action, withdrawal, dismissal, denial, or other outcome.
