Disclosure Summary

Disclosure Information

What you should know about reported disclosure events:

(1) Certain thresholds must be met before an event is reported to IARD, for example:

- A law enforcement agency must file formal charges before an Investment Adviser Representative is required to report a particular criminal event.;
- A customer dispute must involve allegations that an Investment Adviser Representative engaged in activity that violates certain rules or conduct governing the industry and that the activity resulted in damages of at least $5,000.

(2) Disclosure events in IAPD reports come from different sources:

As mentioned in the "About IAPD" section on page 1 of this report, information contained in IAPD comes from Investment Adviser Representatives, firms and regulators. When more than one of these sources reports information for the same disclosure event, all versions of the event will appear in the IAPD report. The different versions will be separated by a solid line with the reporting source labeled.

(3) There are different statuses and dispositions for disclosure events:

- A disclosure event may have a status of pending, on appeal, or final.
  - A "pending" disclosure event involves allegations that have not been proven or formally adjudicated.
  - A disclosure event that is "on appeal" involves allegations that have been adjudicated but are currently being appealed.
  - A "final" disclosure event has been concluded and its resolution is not subject to change.
- A final disclosure event generally has a disposition of adjudicated, settled or otherwise resolved.
  - An "adjudicated" matter includes a disposition by (1) a court of law in a criminal or civil matter, or (2) an administrative panel in an action brought by a regulator that is contested by the party charged with some alleged wrongdoing.
  - A "settled" matter generally represents a disposition wherein the parties involved in a dispute reach an agreement to resolve the matter. Please note that Investment Adviser Representatives and firms may choose to settle customer disputes or regulatory matters for business or other reasons.
  - A "resolved" matter usually includes a disposition wherein no payment is made to the customer or there is no finding of wrongdoing on the part of the Investment Adviser Representative. Such matters generally involve customer disputes.

Client alleged he believed the assets used to purchase the annuity were being held in cash. Client requested to cancel the policy and a return of his funds. Allegations: In a written complaint received on March 21, 2022, client alleged that in November 2018, her financial representative recommended she use the proceeds from the death benefit of an inherited variable annuity to purchase two fixed annuity products from BLC and to invest the balance of the death benefit in securities products in an account with the Firm. Client further alleges she was misinformed as to tax ramifications associated with the recommended transactions and suffered a taxable event of $128,654. Client asked to be reimbursed for the full tax liability associated with these transactions. BLC and the Firm determined the client was informed of the tax ramifications associated with the transactions. While a portion of the client's inherited assets were invested in non-securities products, the Firm is reporting this complaint, based on its good faith determination that the amount of the alleged tax liability associated with the portion of the inherited assets invested in securities products exceed $5,000.
