Disclosure Summary

Disclosure Information

What you should know about reported disclosure events:

(1) Certain thresholds must be met before an event is reported to IARD, for example:

- A law enforcement agency must file formal charges before an Investment Adviser Representative is required to report a particular criminal event.;
- A customer dispute must involve allegations that an Investment Adviser Representative engaged in activity that violates certain rules or conduct governing the industry and that the activity resulted in damages of at least $5,000.

(2) Disclosure events in IAPD reports come from different sources:

As mentioned in the "About IAPD" section on page 1 of this report, information contained in IAPD comes from Investment Adviser Representatives, firms and regulators. When more than one of these sources reports information for the same disclosure event, all versions of the event will appear in the IAPD report. The different versions will be separated by a solid line with the reporting source labeled.

(3) There are different statuses and dispositions for disclosure events:

- A disclosure event may have a status of pending, on appeal, or final.
  - A "pending" disclosure event involves allegations that have not been proven or formally adjudicated.
  - A disclosure event that is "on appeal" involves allegations that have been adjudicated but are currently being appealed.
  - A "final" disclosure event has been concluded and its resolution is not subject to change.
- A final disclosure event generally has a disposition of adjudicated, settled or otherwise resolved.
  - An "adjudicated" matter includes a disposition by (1) a court of law in a criminal or civil matter, or (2) an administrative panel in an action brought by a regulator that is contested by the party charged with some alleged wrongdoing.
  - A "settled" matter generally represents a disposition wherein the parties involved in a dispute reach an agreement to resolve the matter. Please note that Investment Adviser Representatives and firms may choose to settle customer disputes or regulatory matters for business or other reasons.
  - A "resolved" matter usually includes a disposition wherein no payment is made to the customer or there is no finding of wrongdoing on the part of the Investment Adviser Representative. Such matters generally involve customer disputes.

(4) You may wish to contact the Investment Adviser Representatives to obtain further information regarding any of the disclosure events contained in this IAPD report.

Disclosure 1 of 1

Reporting Source: Individual

Employing firm when activities occurred which led to the complaint: J.W. Cole Advisors, Inc.

Allegations: Claimant alleges that Mr. Wright failed to identify and properly respond to supposed "red flags" in connection with a client's requests, at her own direction, (a) to withdraw $50,000 of her funds and have them sent to the client's same-titled bank account, and (b) transfer her accounts to another financial institution, where she (and her son) would self-manage her assets. Based on those allegations, the client asserts claims for negligence, breach of fiduciary duty, breach of contract, violation of Regulation Best Interest, and violation of the Electronic Funds Transfer Act.

Broker Statement

I vehemently deny any allegation of misconduct on my part. Based on my seven year relationship with the client, there was no basis for me to be concerned about the client's own requests, which were at her direction, to transfer her assets to an account in her name to another financial institution. I specifically deny any allegation that I "recommended" that the client liquidate her accounts with me before transferring the assets to another firm; in fact, the managed account was not liquidated and actually transferred in kind. In sum, the allegations against me are entirely without merit. I intend to vigorously defend these claims and to seek the recovery of my attorneys' fees and costs incurred in defending this frivolous action
