Disclosure Summary

Disclosure Information

What you should know about reported disclosure events:

(1) Certain thresholds must be met before an event is reported to IARD, for example:

- A law enforcement agency must file formal charges before an Investment Adviser Representative is required to report a particular criminal event.;
- A customer dispute must involve allegations that an Investment Adviser Representative engaged in activity that violates certain rules or conduct governing the industry and that the activity resulted in damages of at least $5,000.

(2) Disclosure events in IAPD reports come from different sources:

As mentioned in the "About IAPD" section on page 1 of this report, information contained in IAPD comes from Investment Adviser Representatives, firms and regulators. When more than one of these sources reports information for the same disclosure event, all versions of the event will appear in the IAPD report. The different versions will be separated by a solid line with the reporting source labeled.

(3) There are different statuses and dispositions for disclosure events:

- A disclosure event may have a status of pending, on appeal, or final.
 - A "pending" disclosure event involves allegations that have not been proven or formally adjudicated.
 - A disclosure event that is "on appeal" involves allegations that have been adjudicated but are currently being appealed.
 - A "final" disclosure event has been concluded and its resolution is not subject to change.
- A final disclosure event generally has a disposition of adjudicated, settled or otherwise resolved.
 - An "adjudicated" matter includes a disposition by (1) a court of law in a criminal or civil matter, or (2) an administrative panel in an action brought by a regulator that is contested by the party charged with some alleged wrongdoing.
 - A "settled" matter generally represents a disposition wherein the parties involved in a dispute reach an agreement to resolve the matter. Please note that Investment Adviser Representatives and firms may choose to settle customer disputes or regulatory matters for business or other reasons.
 - A "resolved" matter usually includes a disposition wherein no payment is made to the customer or there is no finding of wrongdoing on the part of the Investment Adviser Representative. Such matters generally involve customer disputes.

(4) You may wish to contact the Investment Adviser Representatives to obtain further information regarding any of the disclosure events contained in this IAPD report.

Employing firm when activities occurred which led to the complaint: Long-Term Solutions, LLC

Allegations: A former client of LTS ("Claimant") filed a Demand for Arbitration with [third party] (a private alternative dispute resolution service) against LTS, [third party], [third party] and [third party] (the former Chief Operating Officer of LTS who is no longer associated with the firm) (collectively "Respondents") in February, 2015, alleging breach of fiduciary duty, breach of contract, professional negligence, and various unspecified breaches of the Adviser's Act of 1940. Respondents denied the substantive allegations as being completely without merit, and LTS counterclaimed for unpaid fees and expenses on which Claimants had defaulted. In March 2016, the parties entered into a settlement agreement in which the parties mutually released all claims and causes of action against each other, Claimants withdrew the request for private arbitration and agreed to pay LTS past due fees and expenses, and LTS also agreed to make a payment to Claimants as part of the settlement. Neither [third party], [third party] nor [third party] contributed to the settlement. As part of the settlement, Claimant retained their interests in certain private investments acquired through LTS.
