Disclosure Summary

Disclosure Information

What you should know about reported disclosure events:

(1) Certain thresholds must be met before an event is reported to IARD, for example:

- A law enforcement agency must file formal charges before an Investment Adviser Representative is required to report a particular criminal event.;
- A customer dispute must involve allegations that an Investment Adviser Representative engaged in activity that violates certain rules or conduct governing the industry and that the activity resulted in damages of at least $5,000.

(2) Disclosure events in IAPD reports come from different sources:

As mentioned in the "About IAPD" section on page 1 of this report, information contained in IAPD comes from Investment Adviser Representatives, firms and regulators. When more than one of these sources reports information for the same disclosure event, all versions of the event will appear in the IAPD report. The different versions will be separated by a solid line with the reporting source labeled.

(3) There are different statuses and dispositions for disclosure events:

- A disclosure event may have a status of pending, on appeal, or final.
  - A "pending" disclosure event involves allegations that have not been proven or formally adjudicated.
  - A disclosure event that is "on appeal" involves allegations that have been adjudicated but are currently being appealed.
  - A "final" disclosure event has been concluded and its resolution is not subject to change.
- A final disclosure event generally has a disposition of adjudicated, settled or otherwise resolved.
  - An "adjudicated" matter includes a disposition by (1) a court of law in a criminal or civil matter, or (2) an administrative panel in an action brought by a regulator that is contested by the party charged with some alleged wrongdoing.
  - A "settled" matter generally represents a disposition wherein the parties involved in a dispute reach an agreement to resolve the matter. Please note that Investment Adviser Representatives and firms may choose to settle customer disputes or regulatory matters for business or other reasons.
  - A "resolved" matter usually includes a disposition wherein no payment is made to the customer or there is no finding of wrongdoing on the part of the Investment Adviser Representative. Such matters generally involve customer disputes.

(4) You may wish to contact the Investment Adviser Representatives to obtain further information regarding any of the disclosure events contained in this IAPD report.

The following types of events are disclosed about this representative:

Type	Count
Termination	1

Termination

This disclosure event involves a situation where the Investment Adviser Representative voluntarily resigned, was discharged or was permitted to resign after allegations were made that accused the Investment Adviser Representative of violating investment-related statutes, regulations, rules or industry standards of conduct; fraud or the wrongful taking of property; or failure to supervise in connection with investment-related statutes, regulations, rules or industry standards of conduct.

Disclosure 1 of 1

Reporting Source:	Firm

Termination Type:	Discharged
Termination Date:	06/29/2026
Allegations:	Conduct including failure to adhere to firm standards regarding selling away and business electronic records and communications.
Product Type:	No Product

Reporting Source:	Individual
Firm Name:	MERRILL LYNCH, PIERCE, FENNER & SMITH INCORPORATED
Termination Type:	Discharged
Termination Date:	06/29/2026
Allegations:	The individual was discharged by a prior employer following an internal compliance review. The review identified concerns related to (i) delays in obtaining required client authorization documentation for third parties participating in client communications, (ii) documentation deficiencies associated with certain client account review records, and (iii) facilitating an introduction between two clients without obtaining the firm's required prior approval. The matters, which may still be under investigation, did not involve allegations of client harm, unauthorized trading, misappropriation of client assets, or investment losses.
Product Type:	Investment Contract
Broker Statement	The individual respectfully disputes the characterization of these matters and the decision to terminate employment. The issues identified in the firm’s internal review were administrative and procedural in nature and related to documentation, timing, and internal approval requirements. Specifically, the concerns involved delays in obtaining certain client authorization documentation, deficiencies in certain account review records, and facilitating an introduction between two clients without first obtaining the firm's required approval.

The individual believes the circumstances were treated disproportionately. During the relevant period, and upon information and belief, other individuals at the firm engaged in conduct that was comparable in nature and was not treated as grounds for termination. The individual therefore believes the decision to terminate was inconsistent with the manner in which similar conduct by others was handled and was not a fair or proportionate response to the matters identified.

The individual maintains that the matters were minor procedural and compliance issues and that termination was unwarranted given the nature of the conduct, the absence of client harm or financial loss, and the treatment of comparable conduct involving other individuals at the firm.
